Special Membership Rate for IChE Members:

Join AIChE Now at the special IChE Member Rate – and start enjoying the many benefits of international membership, including:

Access to the AIChE eLibrary (powered by Knovel[®])

Only AIChE gives members access to this rich, interactive resource for research and more, at no extra cost. Experience enhanced text, interactive tables, equation plotting and more. Search, manipulate and export data from a vast collection, including the most current Perry's Handbook of Chemical Engineering as well as selections from Knovel's Life Sciences and Chemistry collections.

AIChE Webinars

AIChE's e-learning initiative accessible through AIChE's ChemE on Demand, covering current and informative topics of interest to all chemical engineers in an accessible one hour format.

AIChE SmartBrief

A free email news digest that summarizes the most important business and technology news of the week selected from hundreds of top news sources exclusively for chemical engineers.

Access Online Communities

The internet-driven phenomenon of social networking is becoming more important than ever. And there are even more ways than ever for AIChE members to connect at www.aiche.org — and now through Facebook.com, LinkedIn.com and MySpace.com, too. These exclusive, fast-growing and globally linked online communities allow members to chat, exchange ideas, share content, post on forums, and more with other chemical engineers.

Technical publications and books

Save up to 20% on books and publications. And up to 83% on magazines. Choose from eight journal subscriptions and over 300 publication titles. As you build your library, you'll also build your savings.

Technical conferences

Save on conferences, where you'll learn from industry leaders and meet thousands of industry peers. There are six AIChE sponsored conferences—and over 30 specialty co-sponsored conferences. If you go to more than one conference, your savings will be significant.

Career Advancement and Support

AIChE's CareerEngineer is the leading e-recruitment source for chemical engineers in every field and at every career stage, and now it's better than ever ... with more jobs than ever, too! You can search by position, industry, city, state, country and company. You can store cover letters, communications with employers and notes from your job searches. Receive automatic emails when jobs post on the site matching your criteria through a special alerts feature. As an AIChE member, you will be placed at the top on the list for potential employers to see first. If you're an employer, this is the best resource to fill a position, whether full-time, consultant or internship.

12-Month Subscription to CEP (Chemical Engineering Progress)

Chemical engineering is constantly evolving. To ensure you have the latest information, developments and breakthroughs, your membership comes with a 12-month electronic subscription to CEP. Articles are written by the innovators who are establishing new protocols and moving our profession forward. Each issue is packed with practical information you can apply to current or future projects.

The AIChE Member Directory

Use this online resource to locate and stay connected with friends, colleagues and peers worldwide.

A diverse, far-reaching network

As an AIChE member, you'll have many networking opportunities to build and maintain professional relationships.
